MRS. ANDERSON SAYS DRAFT DEFERMENTS DEPEND ON GRADES

THE TOWN RECORD

By MONTE DAYTON

Publishers, like everyone else, need a vacation and therein hangs a tale.

H. P. BRADSHAW, editor and publisher of this newspaper, is currently enjoying the sunny climes of Santa Cruz, visiting there with his brother from down south, whom he hasn't seen for many a moon.

What with the press breaking down, ½ of the mechanical staff on vacation during summer and importunings from would-be publicity reapers, a publisher's life is not an easy one.

Fifty weeks of the year he gives to THE RECORD. Now he's taking a couple for himself.

Scuttlebut has it the Daly City-Colma Lions will take to holding their weekly luncheon on the shores of Lake Merced. No slam against the Colonial, where they regularly take their Wednesday sustenance, but the Liunz enjoyed the chow so much at their recent fishing outing, thought it might be a refreshing change to try it again.

Besides, they can catch their own meal right out of the lake, it says here, but don't look for a big lull in the restaurant business because of it.

Speaking of the great outdoors, ED NENSTIEL, local nimrod, suffered a deer hunter's worst frustration last weekend. After trudging over the wilds up north without seeing hide nor horn of a buck, he spotted two beauties in San Mateo county, just off the highway— in an area closed to hunting.

The woes of a golfer are related sadly by PETE MARKOVICH. He gives an example: No. 1 week he shoots 73 and doesn't even place in the Weekend sweepstakes at Lake Merced G and CC . . . No. 2 week he tours the greensward in the same figure, and is up with the winners . . . No. 3 week he shoots a 74 and brings in the bacon.

Which just goes to prove a revision of that old maxim, that "It's not who wins the game," but how many duffers you play with on the weekend.

No slur intended against the athletic character of city solicitor FRANK BLUM.

A couple of Daly Citizens acquired some first hand knowledge last weekend on the danger of throwing lighted cigarettes from cars, and they'd like to pass it on via this column.

While driving back from vacation at Lake Tahoe MR. and MRS. MICHAEL CUBIC, 549 Hillside, were startled by a bonfire following them down the road.

Seems a careless smoker tossed his lighted fag and it lit kerplunk in their trailer.

Up in smoke went $400 of the

High School Students Automatically Deferred If They Enter College

Mrs. Virginia Anderson of the San Mateo County Selective Service office reported this week that college deferments will depend upon the students' standing in relation to the rest of his class for the forthcoming year.

According to the policy set down by the draft board, high school students are deferred until they are graduated or reach the age of 18. Upon graduation, they are allowed an automatic deferment for the first year of college. If they attain a scholastic average which places them in the upper 50 per cent of their class, the deferment is continued for a second year. Second year students must be in the upper two-thirds of their class scholastically to continue until the third year. Third year students must be in the upper three-fourths of the class to continue through their senior year.

All medical students are automatically deferred.

Graduate students may obtain deferments if the work they are engaged in will eventually benefit the defense effort. This includes science, chemistry, electronics, etc.

Since colleges do not have a uniform system of grading, the draft board does not set up an arbitrary grade which entitles a student for deferment, Mrs. Anderson said.

Broadmoor Police Eligibility Exam Set For Tuesday

Examination to establish a police eligibility list in Broadmoor will be held Tuesday night at 8:30 o'clock at the community police station.

According to Joe Belli, member of the Broadmoor police commission, the list is being set up in anticipation of the Formation of a police district in Broadmoor.

On establishing of the district, he said, maintenance of a larger force will be possible.

The sealed examination will be

PLAN FOR TWO PARKS IN BROADMOOR AREA

Plans for a park on Larchmont drive in Braodmoor were revealed Thursday at a meeting of that area's property owners' association.

Mrs. Vi Murphy, chairman of the board of directors playground committee, announced that the Stoneson company has given approval for use of the property.

The association will now go ahead with securing of a fence and equipment for the park, she said. Report on the progress of this matter will be given at the next meeting of the association, September 10.

Mrs. Murphy also informed the board that the MacArthur drive park is nearing completion.

Cannery Work Not Lucrative For Visitor

What with cannery shutdowns and strikes this summer, the lot of the fruit worker has not been a happy one.

Witness the case of Arthur C. Niemelin, 42, of San Jose, a cannery worker who was found by Daly City police Saturday on the lawn of Jefferson high school—"too intoxicated to be fingerprinted," the police report said.

All Niemelin had to his name was 39 cents in coin, an empty wallet—and a lower plate of false teeth.

Survey On Parking Continues; Action Taken By Andersen

Pete Markovich reported that the chamber of commerce surveys are continuing and that he expects that the city council will be requested to appoint a parking authority of some kind.

According to Markovich, if the city council is reluctant to erect a new commission a request will be made to enlarge the police commission with the additional members to be concerned with parking primarily. In the past, the city council has taken the stand that parking is a problem of the police commission and that the Daly City police force can enforce edicts of this commission. The report made months ago by the Daly City-Colma Lions club met this argument and lost the decision. City Administrator Dan Andersen pointed out that the parking authority, if commissioned, would lack means of enforcing its rulings.

Andersen said that the police commission has not been given a fair chance to meet the parking problem. He contended that the police commission has been busy doing organization work and has not had time yet to face all the facets of its job. The commission has been functioning just about a year, Andersen said. At present it is engaged in compiling a list of regulations for members of the police department.

Parking problems have not been ignored by the city council, Andersen disclosed. At the present time the idea of the parking lot behind the city hall is being thoroughly examined. If the cost is not prohibitive work will begin on it in the near future, the city administrator revealed.

When informed of this particular action by the council, Pete Markovich said, "This makes me feel we are accomplishing some-

FILING DATE FOR LIBRARY POST IS EXTENDED MONTH

Date for filing for City Librarian examination has been extended to September 25, the city administrator's office announced yesterday.

Last day for making application for the position had been earlier set at August 28.

Those who wish to obtain application should go to Room 23, City Hall.

No residence requirement is stipulated for the Librarian post, but applicants must have at least two years library experience.

School Registration For New Pupils To Be Held September 11

Registration for pupils transferring to the Jefferson Elementary district from other public school systems will be held Friday, Sept. 11, district officials announced this week.

All children new to the district should report to the school of their grade level to avoid confusion on opening day, H. Z. Weibel, district superintendent, said.

Registration will be held from 9 a.m. until noon.

H. M. VILLEGAS REACHES POINT OF NO RETURN

Visits Daly City, Finds Hard Times

Hilario Morteo Villegas, 23-year-old Mexican, visited Daly City last Thursday.

Because of his short visit he was deported ot Tijuana, Mexico, lost his wife, and is recovering from a sharp gash on the cranium.

It all started Thursday when Villegas came to visit his wife, Elizabeth, at 788 Bellevue avenue. There was a difference in their ages, she being 26, and, apparently, there were other differences, since the couple had been none too amicable during past months.

Anyway, Senor Villegas, as he related it, arrived at the home and found his wife in the company of a 17 year old Daly City citizen.

Villegas told police that while

Daly City Utilities Assessed By Board At Over 1 Million

Utility properties in the city of Daly City were assessed by the State Board of Eqaulization at $1,185,850 for county taxation and at $1,067,230 for city taxation this year, according to figures released this week by the state board.

George R. Reilly, first district member of the board, stated that the county utility rolls were higher than last year's by 9.5 per cent and that the city rolls were up by 6.1 per cent.

Daly City was one of the fewer than half of the cities in the state electing to use separate tax rolls this year. Taxes for all other cities, Reilly explained, are assessed and collected by their counties under agreements providing for reimbursement with certain percentages of the city taxes collected.

According to the board's report, Daly City utility assessment is 90 per cent of figure used by the county.

MAY MOVE TOP-OF-HILL BUS STOP

Municipal Railway Is Considering Transfer Point At Flournoy St.

A plan where-by the transfer point for municipal railway busses may be changed from the corner of Mission street and San Jose avenue near the Daly City Bank of America to the corner of Flournoy street and San Jose avenue is being considered, City Administrator Dan Andersen disclosed recently.

According to Andersen, Vern Anderson and John Rossi of the San Francisco Municipal Railway Co. were in Daly City to make a preliminary investigation of the move some weeks ago. No promises were made at that time.

A check with D. C. Miller, general manager of the transportation company, disclosed that the plan is still under consideration and that some action will be taken on it soon. Miller said that traffice changes caused by making certain streets one-way in San Francisco has been occupying the time of his traffic experts.

City Administrator Andersen disclosed that he will make every effort to see that some kind of a bus shelter will be provided at the Flournoy-San Jose corner if

Couple To Appear On Check Charge Tuesday

James and Maxine Ludlow, 10 Diaz avenue, San Francisco, will appear in Municipal court Tuesday for trial on charges of passing bad checks.

The pair were picked up by Daly City police on Saturday, after allegedly passing worthless checks in an amount totalling $65 at the Town and Country Food Center in the Westlake Shopping Center.

Appearing before Judge Fred Wyckoff Tuesday, the couple entered pleas of not guilty.

PLANS UNDERWAY FOR WESTMOOR HI SCHOOL PLANT

Work on site development plans for the new Westmoor high school, to be located off Skyline boulevard, reached early stages this week, according to Mario J. Ciampi, Jefferson high school district architect.

Ciampi said he would probably confer with district superintendent Stanford Hannah next week on further details of the new educational plant, estimated to cost in the neighborhood of $2,000,000.

It is expected that the buildings will be of frame type construction, to cut costs. The orginal plant will occupy about 20 acres of the 60 acres purchased. The additional land will be used for future development.

Because of an estimated 800 pupil increase in enrollment in the district by 1956, the board of trustees hope to have the school completed at that date.

Growth in enrollment at the Jefferson school within the next few years will probably be met by utilization of every bit of avail-

COUNCIL PLANS TO HIRE ENGINEER IN BODIEN'S PLACE

An engineer will replace Arthur Bodien when he retires on September 1 and the Water and Streets departments will be combined into a Department of Public Works if present plans of the city council are carried out, City Administrator Dan Andersen disclosed this week.

According to Andersen, the city council has been advertising in technical journals for a qualified engineer to take over the combined position. To date 10 applicants have responded, Andersen said.

Present plans call for a careful screening of the qualifications each candidate and then personal interviews.

DIVISION OF HIGHWAYS OKAYS $105,000 FOR THREE-WAY WARNINGS

ANDERSEN GIVES CREDIT TO COUNCIL FOR SPEEDY ACTION IN SACRAMENTO

Alemany boulevard will have three-way signals!

City Administrator Dan E. Andersen made this announcement early this week after receiving a communication that the money for the signals has been allocated in Sacramento and that the San Francisco office of the state of California division of highways has been ordered to have blueprints prepared for the new signals by Ocotober.

Dan Andersen

Andersen disclosed that no action can be taken by the city council until the plans have been prepared. When that occurs the council will be asked to appropriate its pro-rated share to pay for the safety devices.

Acording to Andersen, action on the three-way signals has been fairly prompt due to the prodding given the San Francisco office by the city council.

Latest estimate on the cost of the three-way siganls was $105,000. This was $60,000 in excess of the original request for $45,000 for two-way signals. When the request for the three-way signals was made, the San Francisco office turned the matter over to Sacramento and refused to predict when action would be taken. City Administrator Andersen, who has been in constant communication with the San Francisco office, offered to take the matter up in the state capital himself. The San Francisco office said that they would do all they could to expedite the request after this offer. Andersen reported that the speed in which action was taken was very gratifying. He could nake no estimate as to when construction would begin on the new signals since some paper work is required, the Daly City council must approve the plans and appropriate money.

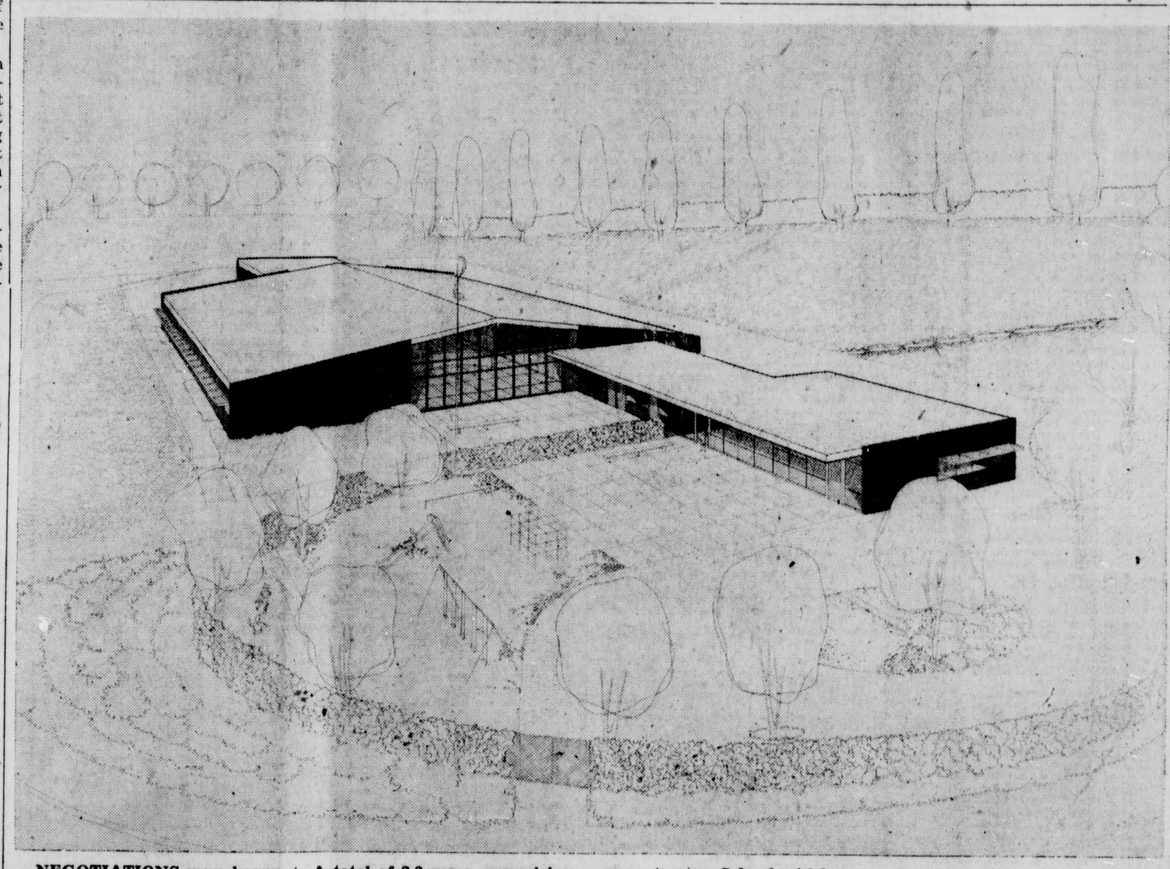
The new signals will be located at Alemany boulevard, Lake Mercer drive and Lynnewood drive.

Fill Teaching Staff For Jeff Elementary

Six new teachers have been hired by the Jefferson Elementary School district, filling the staff for the coming year, according to H. Z. Weibel, district superintendent.

This brings to 41 the number of new teachers hired by the district, and makes a total of 138 certficated employees on the district staff.

An elementary school teacher shortage, which had hit throughout the state, had made difficult the securing of the full staff this summer.



NEGOTIATIONS were begun this week by the Jefferson Elementary School district for acquisition of property on which proposed Vista Grande school shown here will be built. A total of 2.2 acres, comprising 16 parcels of property, are sought by the district. The area on which the school is to be built is bounded by Gambetta, Thiers, Wyandotte and Florence streets. School will house six classrooms, a kindergarten room and multi-use room, and will have a capacity of approximately 250 pupils. District Superintendent H. Z. Weibel said if property acquisition goes smoothly, the school should be under construction by next summer.

$500 Of Westlake School Damage Is Not Insured

At least $500 of the $3500 damage done in recent weeks to the Westlake school was not covered by insurance, according to the underwriter handling the school district policy.

Approximately $440 in damage to glass doors and windows does not come under the vandalism insurance. It is belived labor will run the total cost of replacing uninsured property to more than $500.

The following report, listing only insurable damage, has been released by the school district:

1. Kindergarten room—teachers desk, 18 children's desks, two six-foot chalk boards and two storage desks deeply scratched with sharp instruments; three keys and several hammers torn off a new piano; stripping on supply room door gouged by sharp instrument; toilet paper dispenser in boy's toilet torn off wall and ruined; floor scratched.

2. Multipurpose room—two circular holes approximately three inches in diameter and 1/3 inch deep chipped out of stucco wall; outside door lock broken; outside door light and metal protecting frame broken off; gutter on awning between room and main building pulled loose.

3. Main building—heads of several drinking fountains bent down and rendered useless; metal louvers on high windows twisted and pulled loose; office door lock broken; all outside window putty scarred, gouged or completely re-

North County Group Plans Re-Organization

The North San Mateo County Improvement association will undergo a drastic re-organization in the near future, it was learned this week.

The group met Tuesday night but the turnout was poor, according to Chairman George Lagomarsino.

"We're going to start the whole thing over on a new basis," he said.

San Francisco has a specialized business branch public library in the downtown financial district.

California ranks fourth in total milk production in the United States.

thing. I'm glad to hear it."

Markovich divulged that an authoritative person had predicted that angular parking on Daly City streets, especially Mission, was not likely to be approved. The center strip down Mission street eliminates one lane and does not make angular parking practical, according to the unnamed person's opinion. Markovich reminded that angular parking had been the practice on the west side of Mission street until a few years ago.

"An attempt will be made to keep all factions happy," Markovich said. "We want to please all of the merchants, the customers and the city council."

City Administrator Andersen reiterated earlier statements that if the parking survey results in practical suggestions, the city council will be happy to cooperate.

H. M. Villegas Reaches Point Of No Return

he was tussling with the young man, his wife launched an attack on him with a one-foot-long butcher knife.

When police officers Ricco Benedetti and James Welsh arrived at the setting of the drama, they found Villegas nursing a deep cut on the left side of his face, and blood and glass were intermingled on the floor.

(A "post-mortem" survey of the situation revealed that the youth, according to his mother, had been living away from home during the past month.)

But back to the scene. Meanwhile, the "boy" left post-haste from the Villegas abode. Later he ambled into the Daly City police station, told the officers, "I heard you were looking for me."

Mrs. Villegas claimed self defense.

Mr. Villegas said his wife was having amours with other persons besides himself after he had left her.

The young gentleman said he stayed often at the Villegas, but had been billetted in the rear bedroom.

Police could find no evidence incriminating him, except his shirt on the Villegas bed.

Just as the police were about to write finis on the case, other developments came to light.

Hilario Morteo Villegas, it seems, had entered the United States two years ago on a visitors' visa from Vera Cruz, Mexico. It expired a year ago, report the immigration authorities.

Friday, August 14, the immigration sleuths sent out a warrant for his apprehension.

Wednesday of this week the doleful, Mr. Villegas boarded a bus bound for Tijuana, by request of the authorities.

The other two principles in the case returned to their respective homes.

Mr. Villegas, in his new habitat, has two alternatives. He may return by securing another visitors visa; or, he may wait until his wife files petition for his return.

Chances for the latter, under the circumstances, appear remote.

Compton Cafeteria Blaze Extinguished After $250 Damage

Daly City Fire Company No. 2 put out what Chief Elmer Kennedy estimated was a $250 fire which broke out in Compton's Cafeteria in Westlake Wednesday.

The fire was started when flames entered a flue which was meant to carry away odors. The flames spread to offices above the cafeteria, but were checked before they could do much damage.

Fireman Frank Specht, who was having a day off, was on the scene and participated in the fire-fighting.

Two reports were made of the fire.

A fairyland of beauty is promised in the great Hall of Flowers. For the first time in the Fiesta's history, the entire hall will be devoted to Floral displays alone—all of the many flowers of this area rich in floral production. Specimen flowers, arrangements, landscaping with water falls or quiet pools as part of the design. Eunice Steel, noted organist, will again give concerts at scheduled times.

ROUTINE MEETING IS SCHEDULED FOR MONDAY NIGHT

Business will be routine at Monday's meeting of the city council, according to City Administrator Dan Andersen.

Scheduled for the agenda is the second reading of the ordinance to close all city offices on Saturday except those of the fire and police. If this is approved city employees will be able to enjoy the long weekend.

A map of Westlake number four is scheduled for adoption also. This means that persons desiring to construct homes in the area behind Broadmoor of Fairlawn drive, Maddox and Ocean Shore will be able to get FHA and bank loans for the purpose.

Consideration of an engineer for the newly created job, Director of Public works may take place at the meeting. The number of applicants for the job has been increased by addition of engineers who have submitted their names for a similiar job in South San Francisco.

According to Andersen, work is progressing nicely on the plans for the Westlake firehouse and estimated that architect Louis Baldini will have the plans drawn up in the specified length of time.

John Blaume, the man who is preparing plans to continue the Brunswick extension, is expected to have his plans ready for the city council's approval soon, Andersen added.

Two new firemen may be appointed at the meeting, also.

ONE MILLION PLANTS

One million plants, shrubs and flowers are grown each year at the California State Fairgrounds. They are used for landscaping, decoration of building interiors, banquets, bouquets for race winners, and corsages for various visiting dignitaries. Ira G. Shepard is supervising groundsman.

Death Still On A Holiday

Acclaim has come to Daly City and its police force for something that is conspicuous by its absence—death on the roads.

During 1952 not one single pedestrian death occurred, nor was there a single traffic fatality.

It has now been nearly 20 months that this city has gone without a traffic death—certainly a tribute to the drivers of the community, and higher tribute to the watchful eye of the city's traffic officers.

EDITORIAL

The local police staff, always undermanned in the traffic control department, has, nevertheless, maintained a record of excellence in keeping Daly City safe.

Not only because next week marks the beginning of National Traffic Safety week, but because we believe some type of written recognition aside from regular awards is due, we salute the citizens and the police department of this city for the outstanding achievement in what can literally be termed "life-saving."

What Price Living?

The burden of living is growing greater by the day—at least taxwise.

The California Taxpayers' association has announced that the people of San Mateo county are going to have to pay $9,412,300 in federal taxes in some future year as their share of the federal deficit for 1953-54, unofficially estimated at about $4,400,000,000—if the national government is not successful in inforcing wide-scale economy in federal operations during the present fiscal year.

The $9 million plus figure will be on top of the $146,532,200 estimated tax bill for the people of the county for federal operations alone for 1953-54.

Unless further economies are made, Californians as a whole will owe an additional $388,520,000 in future federal taxes, plus interest, because of the anticipated shortage in revenues to cover the federal spending program for 1953-54.

Truly . . . a taxing thought.

A Yardstick To Go By

On June 2, 1948, the people of this county passed a bond issue for construction of a tuberculosis sanitarium to be located at the site of the then occupied Canyon Sanatorium west of Redwood City.

Although the death rate from tuberculosis is low, the morbidity (incidence of the disease) is not dropping at the same rate and with the rapidly increasing population of the county it is probable that the building will be used for the treatment of tuberculosis exclusively for several years.

However, it is probable that during the life of the building TB incidence and need for hospital treatment will fall.

The farseeing designers of the hospital planned it as a "convertible."

Each unit of 25 beds each can readily be operated without danger of cross infection from the rest of the hospital.

If the time should come when San Mateo county no longer required 120 beds for the treatment of tuberculosis, the hospital could be converted, one unit at a time, to the care of chronic or even acute patients.

The long-term planning employed here, after one year of experience, seems to be working out.

This practically isolated instance of intelligent planning should set an example for future county projects.

The hospital offers good care to patients and, at the same time, takes better care of the taxpayers. We hope to see more of this same type of foresight used in future county undertakings.

133 Vehicle Code Changes To Become Law September 9

"Are you up to date?"

The California Highway Patrol asks this question of the state's six million motorists as the day approaches when some 133 Vehicle Code changes will become law.

"For instance, do you know that after September 9 the driver of any vehicle following another vehicle within 200 feet during hours that lights are required must use low beam headlights?"

The reason for this, the Patrol says, is that night glare from bright headlights has often been a factor in highway collisions.

"This revision, properly observed, should be a great help in reducing accidents and annoyance caused by reflected glare from the rear," comments B. R. Caldwell, California Highway Patrol Commissioner in discussing this change.

All motor vehicles registered after January 1, 1954, shall be equipped with a mirror so located as to reflect to the driver a view of the highway at least 200 feet in the rear, by terms of another amendment.

An additional change of general interest is the provision that at least that portion of the registration card which shows the name and address of the registered owner and the license number of the vehicle shall be plainly visible and legible from outside the vehicle.

"These are among the most important changes affecting all motorists from the standpoint of safety, enforcement and enjoyment," Caldwell observed.

Maid Of Magic

Recent entries in the State Fair Maid of Magic contest include Venita Boetger of San Mateo, Andree Petitjean of Santa Barbara, Susan Pennington of Vallejo, Donna Raider of Tuolumne, and Norma Mahan of Lemoore. They will compete in a beauty contest to be held on the fairgrounds August 30 for the right to preside at opening day ceremonies on September 3 and a prize of a $1,000 U. S. Savings Bond.

New Museum

The New Museum in the ancient city of Sante Fe in New Mexico is reported by the National Automobile Club to be a composite of six of the Spanish missions built by the Franciscan friars.

My Mad World

By Leonore Brewer

"Roman Holiday" is a pleasant late-summer romantic trifle, directed with flair by William Wilder. Although the hoary chestnut about the runaway princess and the American newspaperman isn't what you would call the apogee of sparkling originality, it is saved from itself by Audrey Hepburn's pixiish charm and its background of the Eternal City's everlasting glories.

As a piquant over-worked heiress apparent to the customarily unidentified country, Miss Hepburn is overwhelmed by the prospect of the next day's schedule, and after indulging in as pretty a case of hysterics as we have seen for some time, escapes incognito and penniless into the soft Italian night. With most of Hollywood encamped on the Tiberside, just anybody could have found "Miss Smith" asleep on a bench. But there is a kindly destiny that watches over runaway princesses, and it sends Gregory Peck, almost equally penniless, and slightly cramped for space in the traditional character of the newspaperman out to make a fast buck.

However, since it is Gregory, there is something reassuring about his presence, and one never loses faith in his integrity, even when his keen news sleuth's eye penetrates her incognito, nor even when the ugly word money arises, in the shape of a tempting $5,000 to be given as a reward for an exclusive scoop. So with Peck (now disguised as a public relations man) to guide the action and Eddie Albert to take surreptitious pictures of a princess at play, everything moves along just about the way you would expect; that is, right up almost to the end.

For some obscure reason, not quite clear even to the writer, I think it ended as it did because it was laid in Rome. Had it been laid in New York, she might have met Fred MacMurray. Such a mesalliance would have been titled "The Princess and the Newspaperman," and the ending would have been as expected. As it was, something of the mellowing influence of an ancient city made of what could have been a deadly dull rewarming of an old stew, a tasty little snack.

GOP CHAIRMAN CALLS FOR ACTIVE DRIVE

Republican State Chairman A. Ronald Button today called on all California Republicans to roll up their sleeves and start building active G.O.P. campaign organizations throughout the state for the 1954 elections.

Button, who was unanimously elected chairman of the Republican State Central Committee and a National Committeeman from California last Saturday, said, "We have a tremendously important job ahead of us in 1954. We must start building campaign organizations to elect a governor and all other state constitutional officers, a U. S. Senator, 30 Congressmen, 20 State Senators and 80 Assemblymen.

"I am making plans to visit every part of California during the next few weeks for conferences and discussions to help develop the strongest possible Republican Party organization in this state," Button said. "There never was a time when the Republican Party had greater need for active workers and for financial support."

The new G. O. P. chairman added, "It is imperative to the welfare of America that we give IKe more in '54. Our President needs more Republicans in Congress so he can carry out his program. We must work hard to keep Republicans in Congress so he can carry out his program. We must work hard to keep Republicans in office in each of the 19 districts which elected Republicans last year. We must work to elect Republicans in the 11 districts represented by Democrats who are opposed to the program of President Eisenhower.

"We, the people, carried on a crusade to save America in 1952. Our President is continuing that crusade to build efficiency and integrity in government. He needs our every energy and support in continuing the fine job he has started," Button concluded.

Button was elected chairman of the Republican State Central Committee at a special meeting in San Francisco last Saturday. As State Chairman, he also became California's third member of the Republican National Committee. Button succeeded Laughlin E. Waters, who resigned the chairmanship last month to become U. S. Attorney for Southern California.

Markovich Asks Aid Of Parents To Cope With Vandalism On School Properties

Dear Editor,

As one who is vitally interested in the education of our youngsters, I have in the past always taken part in all bond elections so that new schools would be available to take care of our educational needs. Much to my delight the people of the Jefferson elementary and high school districts have always gone along by approving all school measures.

In so doing they have seen schools built to provide classroom facilities, so that each youngster will be given a well-rounded education. These schools are a symbol of unity and parents can be justly proud to know that their youngsters will be taught the principles of democracy.

To erect schools cost a great deal of money — money that comes from the pockets of each home owner. In as much as these schools are provided for youngsters, I feel it is the duty of each parent to control the actions of his youngster regarding the destruction of school property. Not knowing who the culprits were who did in the neighborhood of $3500 damage to the Westlake and Benjamin Franklin schools, I recommend that every parent have a heart to heart talk with their young ones, explaining the importance of the schools; what the schools stand for and the full meaning of education.

Let them know that the schools are there for their own betterment. I'm sure when they are told they will take a positive view and destruction will cease.

I was shocked to see the amount of destruction to comparatively new school buildings and classroom equipment. There is no need for such vandalism. People in the neighborhood of our schools should report to the police department any youngster misbehaving on school property.

The Parent Teacher Association should take this matter up at the next meeting. By everyone uniting toward this end, I'm sure this problem wil be solved.

I personally want to thank THE RECORD for bringing this matter before the people.

Sincerly,
Peter Markovich

June Redwood Production Well Above That Of May

The California Redwood Association reported this week production of redwood lumber during June was 52,207,000 feet or 3,169,000 feet more than the preceding month. The report was based on figures supplied by 19 major redwood producers. Combined production of all species was 63,713,000 feet in June compared to 60,935,000 feet in May.

On June 30 stocks were at 323,619,999 feet for redwood and 341,329,000 feet for all species combined, aboutthe same as on May 31.

How Can I?

Q. How can I add more sparkle to my glassware?

A. By adding some laundry bluing to the wash water.

Q. Is there anything I can do about a cracked dish?

A. If it is just cracked, and not broken, put it into a pan of milk and boil for 45 minutes to obliterate the crack and strengthen the dish.

Q. How can I avoid staining my skin with costume jewelry that tends to discolor?

A. Coat the surface of the jewelry that rests next to your skin with some colorless nail polish.

Q. How can I clean a stone or brick fireplace?

A. Hot water and strong soap, applied with a stiff brush, are often adequate. If not, mix up a paste of powdered pumice and concentrated ammonia and cover the smoked area with it. Let it stay about an hour or two before scrubbing off with hot water and soap.

Q. How can I rid a houseplant of aphids?

A. Save the soapy water in which you wash your stockings or undies at night. In the morning, when the water is cool, pour it over the plant and soil.

Q. How can I remove paint spatters from furniture?

A. Put a few drops of machine oil on the spots and then rub them lightly with steel wool.

Q. How can I soften dry and hardened vegetable glue?

A. With hot vinegar; add this drop by drop and keep stirring with a cloth dipped in milk.

Q. How can I stretch a newly washed curtain if I have no curtain stretcher?

A. Pin a large clean bedsheet to the living-room rug, and pin the curtain as you want it stretched to the sheet.

Q. How can I remove finger marks from polished furniture?

A. Use a piece of chamois wrung out of cold water, and then polish with a dry chamois.

Q. How can I preserve autumn leaves?

A. Purchase a little powdered rosin at the drugstore, heat an iron to a modest temperature, sprinkle rosin over the leaves and stems, and press with the iron. The result will be a lively, glossy leaf with all the brilliant coloring preserved.

Through The Green Glasses

CRITICISM DEPARTMENT

Police Matron . . . JUANITA GUISTI . . . sent us scurrying to the 30 pound Webster last week when she accused us of being cryptic. Here's what we found out she meant: occult, hidden, inconspicuous and adapt at concealing. She must have us mixed up with somebody else, we hope.

Speaking of the police reminds us of the fact that force members seldom announce the date of their vacation. They say such announcements invite burglaries. This little tale of crime prevention was imparted to us by . . . JACK WALSH . . . while police chief . . . ROLAND PETROCCHI . . . was out of the office on his annual loafing spree.

PREDICTION DEPARTMENT

Manager . . . LOU MARTIN . . . of the Ralph's Cleaners team disclosed recently that San Mateo county recreation director . . . EDDIE DAVENPORT . . . predicted that the winner of the northern division Peninsula Baseball league championship would take the county title. Now that Lou has the division championship in his grasp, he's worried. Last spring, he was handed the PAL title for his Jeff boys before the season started and Capuchino nosed them out. Lou says, "I don't like predictions like that." We'll see how good a handicapper Eddie is next Sunday. Incidentally, we're joining Eddie on the limb and predicting a championship for the local boys.

Another prediction of ours is that recreation supervisor . . . ED MOSCONI . . . is enjoying himself wherever he's gone for the two weeks he'll be absent from the Community Center. Between summer school at San Fran state and the recreation department, Ed's had a busy summer and deserves the rest.

ANSWER DEPARTMENT

Last week we wondered who was going to buy the Chateau Cafe from . . . DOLLY LEWKOWITZ . . . now we know. The names of the new owners are . . . JERRY DENISON . . . and . . . ROSE CLICH . . . both experts at the food dispensing business. Jerry trundled dishes at the Hillcrest Fountain in Millbrae for three years before moving on to Pat's Lunch on Mission street. Rose was at the Sports Center Bowling alley for quite a while. Good luck, girls.

Pressman . . . CLINT FRISCOE . . . has been insisting that SF Seal pitcher . . . JOHN McCALL . . . the lefty with a 12-6 record is from Daly City. We remembered him as a Balboa high flinger. The argument continued for quite a while until we called Seals Stadium and asked. We discovered that John lives at 81 Crestwood avenue, but he did go to Balboa.

A TRICK OF THE TRADE

Once in a while we get a complaint that a baby is born to Daly City parents and the birth isn't recorded in the NEW ARRIVALS column. Here's why. The announcements of births come from the San Francisco hospitals and if the child is born elsewhere, we have no way of knowing it. Another slip up occurs when the mother registers at the hospital by just the street number. The hospital doesn't know she's from Daly City and we aren't acquainted with all the streets here ourselves.

INDIGNATION DEPARTMENT

A few nights ago we were over in the Marina district of San Francisco when two youngsters—under 12—approached us and begged us to buy a subscription to a metropolitan newspaper. Their story was that the money earned this way was to be used to finance baseball equipment for a . . . COLMA . . . boy's club. Here's what made us sizzle. (1) The youngsters were too young to be so far from home that late at night. (2) We can find no trace of such a boy's club in Colma. (3) The newspaper they were supposed to be selling had no knowledge of the youngsters. (4) A person who did give the boys some money didn't receive a single issue of the paper, and (5) the kids who are selling subscriptions legitimately will suffer from the activities of the pair. Let's hope the racket gets stopped soon.

WHAT'S WRONG DEPT.?

Daly City does not have a day designated to it at the San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta. This seems strange since Mayor . . . A. J. GAGGERO . . . is president of the annual show. Furthermore some of the communities which do have days are smaller and less populated than our town. According to first reports from the show, the DC flower-growers aren't doing too well in the prize-winning department either.

CURIOSITY DEPARTMENT

As a sports fan, we were interested in the reason that the San Francisco Forty-Niner-Fort Ord football game wasn't broadcast. We checked with radio station KYA and were told that the first regular broadcast was next Sunday against the Cleveland Browns. A check with the sponsors of the broadcasts . . . BURGEMEISTER BREWERY . . . disclosed that the game was considered a warmup for announcer . . . BUD FOSTER . . . who was rusty from broadcasting baseball, and not of sufficient general interest. Some stations in the Sacramento area did carry the game and so did the Salinas station for the soldiers who wanted to cheer on their ball club. Local fans will be able to tell whether the warmup did any good by listening to Bud next Sunday.

HARD LUCK DEPARTMENT

City Administrator . . . DAN ANDERSEN . . . told us that a bookkeeping machine will be installed in the city hall soon and that two employees of the water department will be relieved of duty. The two girls looking for jobs will be . . . WILMA RILEY . . . and . . . BARBARA GALINDO . . . both hired as temporary employees. Dan hinted also that a central cashier may be hired to collect all the monies paid at the city hall—water bills, dog licenses, etc. In her spare time this gal will have to answer a central switchboard which may be installed also.

IN APOLOGIA

If you've missed . . . CAPTAIN MEL HANSON'S . . . column . . . FIRE FIGHTING FACTS . . . it's because Daly City's fire captain of the fire department has been so busy getting adjusted to newly created duties that he hasn't had time to get to the typewriter. He telephones glumly each week to tell us about his limited time.

Ridgely Cummings Reports

ON A BIBLICAL THEME

Some great plays have been written on Biblical themes, dramas profound and moving such as Eugene O'Neill's "Lazarus Laughed," great spectacles like Max Reinhardt's "Miracle" with Lady Diane Manners as the Nun, and beautiful dramatic poems like Robinson Jeffers' "Dear Judas," sadly multilated in presentation some months ago by a San Francisco group calling itself The Interplayers, with headquarters in the old Verdier mansion.

But although the Bible has proven a productive source for some of our best playwrights, there is no guarantee that themes extracted from it will automatically turn out to be worth an evening's attention.

An example in point is "Miracle For Christ," a three act, eight scene drama which I witnessed the other evening at Theatre San Francisco.

Theatre San Francisco is a 150-seat playhouse in the basement of a multi-storied residence at 1470 Washington street, between Leavenworth and Hyde streets. I give the address in detail for the use of those who may be inclined to search out and examine the workings of this enterprise. If I were a better reporter I would be able to describe the building as two-storied or three-storied instead of multi-storied. But the truth is, I forgot to notice, little dreaming that such a detail would be important. Which is bad, for a writer never knows when some little detail is just the thing that may lift his piece above the level of mediocrity.

But mediocre or not, let us continue. Theatre San Francisco is a playhouse but it is also an idea. The idea behind the organization is much better than the production I saw.

Idea men and driving force for Theatre San Francisco is Monty Ash, an enthusiast with a long career of theatrical experience behind him, stretching from stints with Maurice Schwartz' Yiddish Art Theatre in New York, to Hollywood and now San Francisco, with no doubt waypoints between which I didn't ferret out. Some three decades of close association with flops, hits and the vicissitudes of life in the theatre have not dimmed his enthusiasm or diluted his faith in the creative potential of the American theatre.

Ash nourishes a belief in the significance of the drama for a well-rounded community life. In addition to making available a stage for the development of local acting ability and theatrical craftsmanship in design, lighting and directing techniques, Ash wants to utilize and encourage the budding powers of local playwrights.

No encouragement for playwrights is comparable to the heady pleasure of getting their plays produced. The author can read the words and stage directions he has so carefully jotted down until his eyes water with pride and fatigue. But it is when his play is brought to life onstage that he begins a new phase of understanding and growth.

Ridgely Cummings

Almost uniquely on the West Coast, Theatre San Francisco allows the author to see his flaws in characterization, his errors in dramatic construction, and his successes, if any. From this sobering experience he may derive sufficient encouragement to go on and write better plays. Without it, he may turn into a bitter, frustrated, one-play writer.

"Miracle For Christ" is one of the original works which Theatre San Francisco has brought to life. I use the expression loosely, for certainly the production was far from being vibrant and living. I found it diffuse, prolix, repetitious and rather static.

The program listed Dick McBride as the author. Patricia Heple, who stage managed the show, told me that this is Mr. McBride's second play, that he is a local writer, and that the organization hopes he will write other and, though she didn't say it that way, better plays.

Instruction for the writer was the major virtue of "Miracle For Christ." McBride's theme was confused and nebulous, if present at all. He vacillated between presenting his hero as a dedicated mystic, a holy spirit masquerading as flesh and blood, or a week and deluded human being. Aside for providing a glib explanation for the resurrection of Lazarus, the play said nothing.

Its major novelty was that it was played in modern dress. Its plot was based upon the 11th chapter of St. John, which I have just finished reading and I must say that St. John did a much better job of writing. In 45 verses, about one sentence to a verse, the Apostle told in vivid detail what McBride took all evening to say.

The playwright used the first half of his play to establish three things—that Lazerus was a sick man, that Martha was beautiful and vain and that Mary was modest and ugly. He used such a plethors of talk to stress these points, which were obvious after the first few minutes, that I was reminded of an English film I recently saw.

This British comedy, "Curtain Up," dealt with a repertory company's efforts to stage an impossible play by an elderly authoress. She took so long to get the action of her play underway that the director in desperation finally tore up the first 26 pages of her script. The same treatment would have been profitable for Mr. McBride's opus.

Despite this seemingly adverse judgment, the evening was not a total loss. Stage Manager Patricia Heple's sets and lighting were simple but effective while the actors, LaVerne Shaw, Joan Wallach, Robert McBride and Barry Snider, gave sincere and intense if not polished performances.

Because of its idealistic approach, Theatre San Francisco deserves more community support in the form of paying patrons than it got the evening I was there. I'm told that bigger houses welcomed previous productions, such as "Stop The Presses," "Romance of Scarlet Gulch," "Five In One," "None So Blind," and last month's sparkling (the adjective is hearsay for I didn't see it) presentation of Jim Schevill's "High Sinners, Low Angels."

I'm looking forward with undamaged interest to this group's next production. The mere fact that they remain in operation, in these times of intellectual timidity and closing theatres, is all to the good.

Clubs Day At Fair

September 10 has been designated as California Garden Clubs Day at the California State Fair, September 3 through 13 in Sacramento. Highlights of the day include a state board meeting of the organization, a luncheon to be attended by 500 persons, and a special floral arrangement exhibit. Mrs. Frederick N. Scatena of Sacramento is general chairman.

LAKE MERCED SCORES

Assistant pro Bob Moore reported that the low scorers in the medal sweepstakes at Lake Merced last weekend were: Saturday, Class A, Mel Marx 76-8—68; Leonard Bloch 78-9—67; Lou Shelton 77-8—69; Sandy Berensen 77-8—69; Class B, Ed Moore 81-13—68; Herb Friend 82-13—69; Perry Liebman 84-17—70.

Sunday, Class A, Nate Frankel 86-17—69; Dick Eichler 73-4—69; Pete Markovich 74-4—70; Russ Klein 70-10—70; Lee Hoagland 81-11—70; and Phil Gordon 88-18—70.

According to Moore, Harry Marx pulled a Lou Worsham at Lake Merced Sunday on the 18th hole. Marx's teen shot hung in a tree. He lost a stroke getting it out, slammed a good iron shot and then sank a 70-yard approach for a par four.

The Senior tournament is progressing nicely, Moore disclosed.

Last weekend in the Class A division for members 61 and over, Ed Burrell defeated Art Hardy one up and will meet Harry Hilp Sr. next week.

Class B winners included Judge Herman Vanderzee who defeated Marcel Hirsch one up; Henry Sircular beat Lou Blumenfeld two and one.

The outstanding match of the tournament to date has been between Phil Marshall and Dr. Sam Bleaden. Marshall finally won it on the 23rd hole, Moore said.

Benefit Dance For Village Play School Draws A Large Crowd

"Come to the Fair" was the invitation issued by the members of the Village Play School on last Saturday, August 15. About 200 residents and friends from the Daly City-Colma area accepted this invitation and danced to the rhythms of the Daly City Cowboys until 2 a.m. in an authentic "blue-ribbon" Country Fair atmosphere. Decorating, under the direction of Mrs. Edward Lee of Garden Village, and Mrs. James Leslie of Park Merced, was unique and colorful, and was enhanced by the friendly and festive air of the jean-and-cotton-clad crowd.

Mrs. Paul H. Talbot Jr., of Broadmoor, president of the Village Play School, announced that last year's record of 1600 tickets sold in the community, was matched and slightly exceeded this year, and financially the dance was a great success. The proceeds of the affair will be used to reopen the nursery school, which is coperative and is a member of the San Francisco Council of Cooperative Nursery Schools operating under the sponsorship of the Jefferson Union high school district.

Mrs. Talbot wished to express her thanks for the cooperation of the whole community and particularly to the Daly City Super Service Station at the Top of the Hill for their kindness in providing the public address system which was used.

The main event of the evening was held shortly after midnight, and awards were made to Mrs. Charles Folden of 30 Park Plaza drive, Westlake, owner of the Westlake Pet Shop; Mrs. Betty Hill of 70 Rio Vista, Petaluma; and Mrs. N. DeGennaro, 187 South Mayfair, Westlake.

The Village Play School, which is open during the regular public school sessions, is now accepting applications for the September session, and parents of three to five-and-a-half year olds who are interested in entering their children, may obtain more information by calling Mrs. Ernest Clark, DE. 3-4940.

Lubrication Changed

Even though he may never intend to undertake the task of lubricating the new car himself, the owner will find it profitable to make a study of the chart that comes with the instruction manual, points out the National Automobile Club. The service authorities maintain that no owner can give his car intelligent maintenance unless he is thoroughly familiar with its lubrication requirements. The requirements, in every one, will have changed between the average man's older car and his new one.

NO TRAFFIC DEATHS FOR DALY CITY IN 1952

A RARE OCCURRENCE—Daly City finished the year 1952 without a single traffic fatality. In recognition of this fete E. F. Cassell, captain, California Highway patrol, presents Police Chief Roland Petrocchi an award of honor. Daly City was one of three California cities over 10,000 population without a single traffic death. Looking on are Mayor Anthony Gaggero and Officer John Walsh, Daly City's pedestrian protection representative. Cassell told Petrocchi that the honor was bestowed upon the people of this city to help prove that the loss of life, suffering and economic waste caused by traffic accidents can be reduced. The honor comes at a time when the nation is ready to observe National Safety Traffic week, August 23 to 30.

Way commended the local police department for their fine efforts in keeping Daly City safe. (See message on this page, sponsored by businessmen and citizens of the community.)

Local Marine Hero Is Returning Home

Marine Corps Private Ted Freeland, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Freeland, 156 Irvington street, will be returning home soon after one year of combat in Korea, his mother reports.

Freeland left the United States in August, 1952, and went into active combat three weeks later as an automatic rifleman.

He was also fire team leader and at the end of his year of service in Korea has been platoon radio man.

During fighting in Korea, he was wounded twice, once by machine gun and once by a grenade. For this he received the purple heart and gold star.

His most active service was when E company was fighting on Vegas hill.

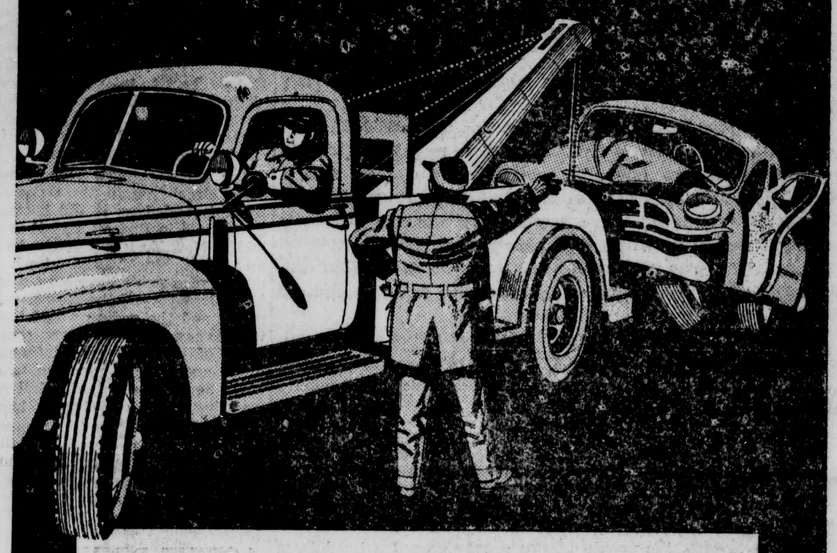
Recently his heroism was mentioned in a report by Jack Foisie, correspondent for a San Francisco newspaper.

The account was related by Bud Dorton, a sailor of Sacramento, who said, "The enemy were outflanking us. But Ted moved out by himself, moved fast enough to get in front of them and then cut them down with his B.A.R. (automatic rifle)."

Freeland's mother reports that he has kept up his morale because of the kindness of friends in Daly City who wrote to him and contacts with home by reading THE RECORD.

Mrs. Freeland said she had never heard of the incident reported by Foisie until reading it in the paper. "He tried to avoid worrying us by reports that he had been in danger," she explained.

Billion Dollar Clearance!



Traffic accidents cost America billions of dollars. Let's get rid of them—clear them out! Drive a little more carefully when you're behind the wheel of your car. Cross streets a little more carefully when you're walking. Stop this tragic waste—stop accidents!

Big Cash Savings Possible! Automobile accidents are mainly responsible for the rising cost of automobile insurance. And excessive speed is a factor in more accidents than any other single traffic violation. Cut your speed. Cut the number of accidents. Cut the high cost of driving.

Check These "Broken Lots"! A high percentage of accidents involve vehicles in unsafe operating condition. Check your car—and check accidents. Replace worn tires. Get regular safety servicing of brakes, steering system, windshield wipers. It's a lot cheaper than having even a minor accident!

Good Lights—Excellent Value! Darkness is especially dangerous, to drivers and pedestrians alike. Good headlights are an investment in safety. Extra caution at night is an even better one. Watch out at night, and wipe out the needless hospital bills, the needless repair bills, the needless accidents.

Gas and electricity are cheap in California

One of the first things that impressed Mr. and Mrs. Shipsey when they moved to California in 1950 was that gas and electricity cost far less here than in their former home. The Shipseys can also measure this bargain in another way: P.G. and E's combined rates are actually lower now than in 1938. So let low-cost gas and electricity do more of your work . . . give you added leisure.

How P. G. and E.'s low rates save the Shipseys money

Here are the appliances that make the Shipseys' attractive Chico home even more enjoyable:

The Shipseys' P.G. and E. bill (recent month) $8.48

In their former home, the same amount of electricity and gas would cost $16.03

S.F. IS CANNING INDUSTRY CENTER

A special report just issued by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce disclosed that the industry this year will employ about 96,000 persons at the peak of the season. The State has processed fifty per cent of the nation's total supply of canned fruit in recent years, as well as supplying 2,400,000 cans of the national supply of seven million tons of vegetables used in canning.

Northern California processors accounty for eighty per cent or $40,000,000 worth of the State's billion-dollar-a-year canning pack.

COTTON CROP OFF FROM 1952

The California Crop and Livestock Reporting Service's Aug. 1 cotton report indicates a total harvest of 1,725,000 bales or about five per cent less than the 1952 crops of 1,818,000 bales.

"The last week of June and all of July provided quite favorable weather for development of the crop, but there was considerable difficulty in obtaining stands," the report declared. "More than the usual proportion of California cotton acreage is late, some very late. It seems evident that these late crops will be more than usually dependent on a late open Fall, if satisfactory productions are made."

LOCAL LEGIONAIRES ISSUE AN INVITATION TO ALL VETERANS

"Knock on every door for '54." That's the slogan the American Legion has adopted for its 1954 membership campaign in more than 17,000 Legion Posts throughout the United States.

Post No. 410 of Daly City is your home town Legion Post. Local Legionaires will endeavor to swell their membership ranks by visits to the home of every eligible veteran.

If you have served in our Armed Forces during World War I, World War II or the Korean War, you are eligible to join the American Legion. This means that 20,000,000 veterans in the U.S.A. are prospective members. It would be a good thing for America if the Legion were to enroll 20,000,000 eligibles for 1954. We need more Legionaires to maintain a vigilant guard of our precious freedom.

Dedicated to God and country, an active American Legion Post such as Daly City Post No. 410 is an asset to any community. As a champion of positive Americanism and the greatest foe of that Godless conspiracy, communism, the American Legion deserves the support of every citizen in this community.

The Legion has long been in the front line in its fight for national security. It has won nationwide commendation for its "Back to God" program and is best known for its rehabilitation program and the promotion of child welfare.

Legionaires are asked to "inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation." Post No. 410 in your home town has lived up to this line in the Preamble to the American Legion constitution. It has served its Post right by being of real service to the community.

SARTO AC DUMPS SONOMA CLUB 11-3

Sarto A.C. notched its ninth win of the current season Sunday, wallopping Sonoma A.C. 11 to 3, behind the pitching of Lowell Creighton and Leo Giannechine.

Creighton went six innings before being relieved by Giannechine. Creighton allowed only six hits and three runs up to that time, but needed spelling because of the intense heat at the Sonoma diamond.

Giannechine also led the cause at the bat, banging out a 320-foot homer over the left field fence on the first pitch thrown his way.

Another extra-baser for the Sartomen was contributed by Romero, who hit a triple. Podskoff was cited for his fine receiving.

The victory gave the local team a 9-4 record. They picked up their eighth win the previous Sunday against Millbrae, winning 10 to 1, with Tito Sarto pitching a four-hitter.

Young Sarto is expected to open Sunday at Marchbanks in the club's tussle with Don Gilmore Auto.

Dove Regulations

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Pacific Flyway dove hunting regulations similiar to last year's have been announced for 1953 by the Secretary of the Interior.

California hunters may take 10 mourning doves per day between September 1 and September 30. The special white-winged dove season in Imperial County runs concurrently with the same bag limit, although no more than 10 birds of both species combined may be possessed.

Shooting hours extend from one-half hour before sunrise until sunset, except on the opening day when shooting at Noon.

California Fish and Game Commissioners are expected to adopt the Federal regulations when they meet August 28 at the State Building in San Francisco.

New Code

SACRAMENTO — Copies of California's new Fish and Game Code wil be available the first of October, according to William J. Harp, assistant to the Fish and Game Commission. They may be purchased at a cost of 52 cents from the Documents Section of the State Printing Plant, 11th and O Streets, Sacramento.

Initial construction on the State's new experimental Cedar Creek salmon and steelhead trout hatchery, near Cummings, Mendocino County, is expected to get under way in September, according to an announcement from the California Department of Fish and Game.

Plans and estimates have been reviewed by the State Board of Public Works and contracts will be let soon, reports Earl D. Litritz, supervisor of hatcheries.

The $68,000 project will be financed by the Wildlife Conservation Board from its share of State pari-mutual proceeds. Only the basic facilities needed for experimental work will be built initially, Leitritz said, although plans provide for future expansion into full-scale hatchery operations if the experiments prove encouraging.

The Cedar Creek hatchery's purpose is to gather facts on which the Department's future salmon and seelhead hatchery program can be based. It will also serve as headquarters for the north coast stream improvement and fish rescue crews.

While the new unit will be within the boundaries of the Department's Region III, it will be administered from Region I headquarters in Redding. A foreman and two assistants will make up the permanent hatchery crew, with a full-time fisheries biologist on hand for research purposes.

Major emphasis will be placed on studies of the survival of marked steelhead and salmon, to find out the sizes at tme of planting which will yield the best returns for the financial investment.

Experiments in other states have indicated that keeping fish in hatcheries until they are six to eight inches long and ready for seaward migration has produced the most numerous returns, Leitritz stated.

Deer Report

During the first two days of the opening of the early season at least, deer hunting in California was better in 17 counties and worse in eight counties than it was at the same time last year.

Early deer tag returns received by the Department of Fish anr Game show that Mendocino County leads the central and south coastal area with a take of 73 bucks. Last year's opening week-end tally was 56.

Hunters in Sonoma County scored a two-day take of 61 bucks, compared to 43 last year. The 1952 leader at this time, Lake County, dropped to third place with a kill of 46 deer.

The deer tags received on the third day of the season added up to 456 this year and 419 in 1952.

Among the counties which recorded a 90 per cent or better increase for the opening week-end were Alameda, Kern, Kings, Merced, Monterey, Santa Barbara, Santa Cruz, Stanislaus and Yolo.

Rescue Salmon

Personnel of the California Department of Fish and Game rescued more than 40,000 salmon and steelhead trout form dying streams in Humbolt, Del Norte and northern Mendocino counties during the month of July.

Plant Lakes

From its twin-engined airplane, the State Department of Fish and Game this summer planted more remote lakes with more trout at less cost and in less time than ever before in the five-year-old aerial planting project.

When Senior Warden-Pilot Al Reese drops 340,000 golden and cutthroat trout in high Sierra waters next month, the year's total will add up to 2,864,000 fingerlings in 662 lakes. The previous record was set in 1951, when 2,769,000 trout landed in 632 mountain lakes.

The cost of aerial fish planting has been slashed from $2.98 per thousand, when the large-scale program began in 1949, to $1.25 per thousand fish this year. Using the traditional pack horses and mules, the planting of mountain lakes used to average out at almost $20 per thousand fish.

Primary reason for the four-way record year is Al Reese's perfection of a system of drugging the fish in transit. The addition of sodium amytal to water in the carrying cans calms the fish so that they use less oxygen and need less water. As many as 6,800 trout fingerlings were transported in four gallons of water.

From the Oregon border to the Tehachapi Mountains, Reese and his two pilots spent 105 hours in the air ferrying and planting the fish. Last year's flying time was 124 hours and in 1951 the plane logged 142 hours.

Mt. Shasta Plant

From the Mt. Shasta hatchery, California Department of Fish and Game personnel planted 69,400 catchable-sized rainbow trout and 107,600 fingerlings during the month of July.

Game Appointment

Director Seth Gordon of the California Department of Fish and Game has announced the appointment of William Ellis Repley to the post of assistant chief of the Marine Fisheries Branch, with headquarters in Sacramento.

Ripley, a marine biologist formerly stationed at the Department's Stanford University laboratory, replaces John F. Janssen, now a regional manager.

The new assistant chief is a veteran of 13 years of service with the Department and took a leading role in development of the State's shrimp and trawl fisheries.

Shrimp Bed

Marine biologists of the Department of Fish and Game have come across another important shrimp bed off the southern California coast which is expected to enhance the State's newest fishery.

Located about 10 miles off Pt. Sal, near Santa Maria, the newly discovered bed may be an extension of the Morro Bay bed several miles to the north.

RALPH'S CLEANERS WIN NORTHERN PBL CHAMPIONSHIP OF SM COUNTY

Ellingson's Edged 5-4 On Home Diamond As Last Inning Is Squelched By Delbon Rosa, Butcher, Murphy And Brooks Sparkle

Ralph's Cleaners won the northern division championship of the Peninsula Baseball League by squeaking by Ellingson's of San Bruno 5-4 Sunday afternoon at San Bruno.

Second baseman Ray Rosa and Catcher Bob Butcher shared hitting honors. Rosa had three for four to lead the locals. This included a double, one of the two extra base blows of the game. Run batted in honors went to left fielder John Murphy who chased a pair across the plate. He got the other extra base blow—a double. Butcher had two for four.

Arnold Brooks, Ralph's ace hurler, had the San Bruno team eating out of his hand until the sixth inning when wildness caught up with him. At the time, Ralph's were holding a five run lead. In the eventful sixth, Brooks struck out the first man to face him. A walk, a hit and two more walks gave Ellingson's an unearned run and sent Manager Lou Martin scurrying to the mound to see what happened. Brooks told manager Martin he was all right and proved it by striking out the side with the sacks loaded. Ellingson's got to Brooks again in the seventh and scored three runs and had the bases loaded when Manager Martin shelved Brooks and called Don Delbon from right field.

Delbon's first pitch was a blazing strike. On the next throw, Catcher Bob Butcher called for a pitchout and threw to third baseman Frank Figone catching the San Bruno runner in a hot box. Figone finally made the put out and then Delbon flipped two quick pitches past the next batter to win the game for the locals.

Catcher Butcher played an outstanding defensive game as well as getting a crucial hit to score one of the northern division champions five runs. He picked off a runner at first early in the game and caught another napping at third an inning later. The final pickoff was called for when Manager Martin noticed the Ellingson runner was turning his back on Butcher after taking a long lead. At that point in the game a fly ball would have tied the score and a hit would have won the game for San Bruno. Manager Martin said afterwards, "The pressure was really on the kids and they came through like champions. I'm proud of every one of them."

Brooks allowed only six hits while striking out eight.

Sports Afield

By Ted Kesting, Editor, Sports Afield Magazine

Each year approximately 2,250 persons die of accidental gunshot injuries. Deaths due to firearms rank seventh among the list of accidental deaths. Only one-fourth of all firearm accidents occur while hunting. Twice as many occur in the home. About 80 per cent of all firearm accidents are non-fatal. Of those that are fatal a goodly percentage die needlessly because of faulty or inadequate emergency treatment of gunshot wounds. Many of these bleed to death.

These grim statistics were revealed in an article by Dr. A. M. Libasci in Sports Afield magazine. What makes it all the more tragic is that there is nothing complex or mysterious about the treatment of gunshot wounds.

There are but three vital steps to fix in your mind. (1) Stop the bleeding. (2) Protect the wound. (3) Prevent shock.

Your first and immediate concern is to stop the bleeding. If there is only oozing and dripping of blood put a large dressing over the wound and apply steady and unreleasing pressure with the palms of both hands until you are sure the bleeding has stopped. If there is serious bleeding you will have to apply a tourniquet, which very few people know how to do effectively.

The principles are simple. You must put the tourniquet where it will cut off the entire circulation of the arm and leg. This means high up where the main artery enters the limb. It should be no lower than one handbreadth from the armpit or the crotch. All the first-aid manuals caution you to loosen the tourniquet at least five minutes every half hour. Don't do this if the bleeding is serious. Your patient will bleed to death. Leave the tourniquet tight if great bleeding occurs as you loosen it.

Your second step, to protect the wound, is to keep your hands and fingers off ot it. Cut off the clothes around the wound and cover it with a sterile or clean dressing. Keep the wound covered at all times.

The third step is to prevent shock. You do this by (1) making your victim comfortable, (2) keeping him warm, (3) lowering his head and shoulders, increasing the flow of blood to the brain.

Chest and abdominal wounds require special attention. For chest wounds through which air is sucking, you must plug up the wound. Pack it with a dressing and cover it with a raincoat or other material. Bind this tightly with belts or strips of torn clothing around the chest. Have the injured person lie on his wounded side.

For a belly wound (1) cover the wound and (2) treat for shock. Use a sterile or clean dressing and fasten it securely. If the intestines are protruding don't touch them or try to put them back. Don't give anything by mouth—no water, no food.

Daly City Lakers Cinch SSF Crown With 86-14 Victory

The Daly City Lakers cage squad cinched the championship in the South San Francisco Recreation league last week when they dumped Lindenville, 86 to 14.

Led by Center Rich Watso, the Lakers racked up a fantastic lead and the outcome of the contest was never in doubt.

Al Lagomarsino, Ron Jay, Dick Kalinin and Mike Dotterweich kept the backboards in control throughout the entire game.

Watso and Lagomarsino scored 30 and 20 points, respectively. The Lakers employed a fast break that was too much for the Lindinville gang. Joy displayed outstanding passing and his defensive work did much to stymie the opponents.

The Lakers will engage in their final contest Saturday night at 9:30 o'clock in the old South City high gym, where they will face Memorial Park.

EDGEWOOD PLAYGROUND

Except for the craft exhibition and the amateur hour, the special events of the summer have all past. Although they are past they are not forgotten. First there was the Thornton Beach party. A large group from Edgewood participated. Among those who walked to the beach were Barbara Sears, Tommy Enberg, Albert Barrena, Pauline Helsel, Tony Cardinale and Dennis Cardinale. Mrs. Louise Enberg brought Janice, Christine and Davie Enberg and Janet Pope in her car. The weather was perfect for the occasion and the hot dogs were out of this world.

And next was the picnic and playday at Marchbanks. Going to Marchbanks is always a special treat for the children from Edgewood; they love to cavort and play games on the lawn. Patty Doyle, Linda Bridges, Donnie Bridges, Terry McCarthy, Dierdre Glick, and Johnny Long were those who donned costumes to compete for prizes that day.

The next event on the agenda was the trip to the San Francisco Zoo. The older boys, Richard Montoya, Dennis Murray, Butch Davies and Brian Murray, were most helpful in many ways. Others who rode the train and merry-go-round and horses were Shirley Farina, Michael Steele, Diane Caruso, Jimmy Kearney, Beverly Kearney, Jimmy Caruso and Tommy Farina. Our appreciation went to Mrs. Louise Enberg, Mrs. Reeder and Mrs. Thelma Steele, who thoughtfully furnished our group with transportation. And we can't forget that Jimmy Reeder returned with a souvenir, a real peacock feather.

The San Francisco bay excursion always proves to be an exciting journey. But it was doubly exciting for Gary Patricia, and Matthew Monyhun, recently from Kansas. This was their very first boat ride! John Day, Terry Miller, Jane Gruenwald and Donna Bradley were those who were thrilled by the jaunt under the Golden Gate Bridge.

The day spent at Skateland was one which many will always remember. There were various races at the rink and later, a wonderful afternoon spent at the Fun House. Carol Doyle, Rhea Stafford, Priscilla Gruenwald, Corinne Bailey, Kathleen MacDougall, Jimmy Caruso, and Carol Lohmeyer were those who exhausted themselves at the all-day affair.

The last scheduled event was the Dog and Pet Show at Marchbanks. The only entry from Edgewood was the Enberg family's dog, Fritzie, who returned with a first place ribbon. Mrs. Louise Enberg drove the group to the park. The group included Ronnie, Frankie and Steven Sears, Tommy, Christine and Davie Enberg, and Janet Pope.

To close the summer with a flourish Edgewood has scheduled for next week a Scavenger Hunt and Wiener Roast. Marchbanks Park is going to be our guest and a lively time is promised to all who come.

WESTLAKE

Culminating a successful summer program, the Westlake Playground will soon close its doors for another season.

During the eleven week period, this playground has served over 400 children per week, ranging in age from five to fifteen. Under the direction of Miss Patricia Nagle and Miss Ida Jenkins, the children have participated in various activities: arts and crafts, indoor and outdoor games, community singing and outings. Movies and the story hour was also provided for them. Robert Gaggero directed the sport activities—baseball and basketball while Miss Marjorie Erickson coach archery.

Besides these playground activities interesting excursions and outings were offered, the first of which was the Thornton Beach picnic, June 24. Over 100 children attended this affair. On July 1, many Westlakers were represented at the Marchbanks Playday and Picnic. A trip to the Zoo was the next attraction. The children were accompanied by Miss Nagle.

Another exciting outing was the San Francisco Bay excursion. Over 100 children toured San Francisco harbor aboard the General Frank M. Coxes, followed by a trip to the Aquatic Park Museum.

Westlakers cut some fancy figures at the Rollerskating Party at Skateland July 24, following which they went to Playland. A trip to Seals Stadium culminated the outings for the season.

Westlake children were well represented at the Arts and Crafts Exhibition held August 19. The children worked ardously all summer to complete their projects. Their projects included belts, key chains, bracelets, paintings and painted glassware.

Among the entrants were: Ricky Katz, Albert "Skipper" Smith, Kathleen and Sandra Sarubbi, Renie Bozzini, Kathy and Irene Aailes, Rodger and Molly Bernard, Johnny Moore, Danny Hansen, Julie Romero, John McKenny, Joyce Tregenza and Sharon Moran. Assisting Miss Jenkins and Miss Nagle in the craft program were Sandra Enloe, Diane Richter, Judy Mollison and Joyce Triganza.

Monday matinees proved very popular with the youngsters. A total of 11 recent movies were presented. Among the movies shown were: Just Around The Corner, Down To The Sea In Ships, The Pied Piper, The Tender Years and Smokey.

Westlake Robin Hoods proved their skill with bow and arrow in an Archery Tournament August 4. Gary Gross, 11, won the competition with 69 points. Other finalists were Jim Fredrickson, Tommy Asaro, Kenneth Moore and Richard Mollison.

FRANKFORT PLAYGROUND

The summer program was so planned that children of all ages could take part in some of the activities. Frankfort, having the majority of attendance made up of children under seven years old, found the outings to Marchbank and the zoo ideal for such an age group. Busy at play on the curly slide was Patsy Smyser, while the Kenny children, Johnny, Mike and Ray thought the "Jungle Jim" was just the thing for displaying their climbing ability. More interested in the relays and dodge ball were Coleen Ayers, Eddie Lario and Patsy Weeden. At the zoo Marcia Nowak soon found out that the famed water spitting chimp had deadly accuracy, and Connie Lario couldn't quite believe that any animal could have a neck longer than the size of her. Liking the quieter animals on the merry-go-round, were Karen, Stevie and Allen White.

The Bay ride on the General Cox was enjoyed by older children from Frankfort. Nancy Hartl, who was never on a boat, explored it from top to bottom. Giving his attention to the engine room was Bob Pike, whereas Diane Smyser believed the scenery from top side was more interesting. Aquatic Park's museum held the fascination of Virginia Johnson and Frankie Taylor.

The activities mentioned above are just a few which helped make the summer more complete for many youngsters. Tournaments, weekly movies, and crafts also had good turn outs. Archery at Frankfort was attended regularly by Stanley Oviveria, Danny Caratti and Lloyd Echols.

To climax the summer recreation an archery playoff was held for the boys. Competing in this event were Ron Neil, Frank Soto and Manuel Villa. For the girls a doll show was given. Sally Iffla won a prize with her skating star. Having the most unusual doll was Cecila Villa. Sandy Mokay won first prize in the Toni class. Another entree who received a gift was little Teresa Vallejo.

LINCOLN PLAYGROUND

The first excursion of the summer, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation department, the Thornton Beach Party, resulted in an enthusiastic turnout from Lincoln Playground. The contest was divided into age groups. The play was also limited to each sex. Girls vs. girls, boys vs. boys.

The results are as follows:

Boys

Michael Goulden won 1st prize, a fishing pole complete with reel, for catching the largest fish, a 11½ inch trout. Second prize, a weather barometer, was also won by a Lincoln lad, Leland Rowe. First prize for the girls was also won by Lincoln; Virginia Neumann was the victor with her 5 inch trout.

Other participants who enjoyed the trip were:

Darrell Luna, Jimmy Goulden, Michael Goulden, Ray Heckman, Frank Neumann, Diane Neumann, Eileen Neumann, Ronnie Sanders.

Although the day was foggy and cold, the turnout was good and the kids had a fine time comparing the traits of the various pets.

Those who attended were:

Jimmy Goulden, Michael Goulden, Darrell Luna, Sharon Kruse, Judy Monteleone, Mickey Ward.

ARTS AND CRAFTS

The Arts and Crafts program of the Daly City Recreation Department summer program closed with the annual exhibition held this year at the Memorial Community Center Wednesday evening, August 19. This was a climax of a very busy and active program for the second season supervised by Miss Eleanor Hughes. She was ably assisted by Ina Bryant, teacher of Garden Village school.

The main aim of the art program was to bring out the creative talents of the children whose age groups ranged from six years thru teen agers. Along with creative aims the program has served to encourage the exploration of various media and techniques so that the youth can make things that he can use and wishes to know how. The several crafts used throughout the summer have been: wood burning, pyrocord weaving and braiding, finger painting, paper mache and creative painting and drawing in pencil, crayon and chalk.

Groups were gathered together to be shown how crafts were done and how to design original decorations. At all times original ideas were stressed. Many brought back to centers at next meetings their own interpretations of previous lessons and told how objects had been made as gifts for families, etc.

One of the main objectives of the program is to encourage youth to carry on projects for several days and not to complete a craft in one day. Finishing and fashioning before decoration were stressed and required by the staff.

At all times it was emphasized that many beautiful and useful objects could be created from salvage. Candlestock holders were made from the heavy spools from the procord. How to finish edges, sawing spool in half, painting a base color and then creating an original decoration is a typical example of creating something from nothing. Some firms of Daly City should be given thanks for their generous donations. The Stockton Lumber Co. and Avelar Auto Top and Seat Covers.

From Lux College Art Department came a most welcome donation of paper containers, tools, paints and fabric paints. The staff wishes to thank all donors.

The groups met at scheduled hours with all ages participating. Older groups found it was great fun to make some of the simpler things that the younger groups were making especially paper projects. All ages favored finger painting which was done with brushes, painting pictures and creating designs which served as decoration for gift wrapping and covering of match books, boxes and simple book covers.

At Vista Grande the Village brothers, Donald and Rodney, arrived at 8:30 every morning to set up equipment. At Crocker Eddie Baker and Ray Bermudas deserve credit for their help. The Crocker group also had the largest participation in the crafts program and showed the greatest ability to carry on individual projects. At Jefferson Elementary school great help was given to the staff by Eddie, Lenie, and Linda Giordano; Maxine, Maurine and Dwain Tebeau; Barbara and Cindy Baldi who cleaned the room, carried in supplies and were almost 100 per cent in attendance.

Various types of materials were used in the program including woodburning, pyrocord, metal work and paper work. Paper mache activities were the longest of the term projects. Groups created puppets, molded around electric light globes. Neighborhood shows were given at the childrens home with puppets created at the Center.

The budding artists also had the privilege of doing free brush

COACH VERDUCCI GLUM ABOUT S.F. GATORS CHANCES

Grid Line-up Lacking In Fullback Material

Daly City Councilman Joe Verducci, coach of the San Francisco State gridders, isn't too optimistic about his pigskin possibilities for the coming year.

Bad news has come to the councilman-coach with the approach of the fall season.

The long arm of the draft reached out and grabbed his first and second string fullbacks, John Forcson and Fil Julabel. Forcson did yeoman chores last year as regular fullback, while Julabel spelled him. The loss of these two leaves Verducci without a single candidate to fill the position.

The key man in Verducci's T-formation attack will again be quarterback Maury Duncan. Bolstering the line-up will be returning first stringers Jess Jones, guard, and George Wehner, end. Jones is campaigning in his third year with the Gators, while Wehner, who made his debut in college grid play as a freshman at St. Mary's, will be entering his second year of play with the San Francisco team.

Verducci will have approximately 15 returning lettermen, only five of whom were regulars last year.

The mentor says he will lack depth on this year's eleven. A large contingent of pigskin hopefuls was expected with the abandonment of football by the denominational schools—but they failed to show.

Regular drills will open September 8, in preparation for the October 2 season opener against Cal Tech.

MARCHBANKS PARK
Summer Review

Another highly successful Marchbanks summer program is rapidly coming to a close much to the regret of the 8000 children and adults who enjoyed the many activities.

After a well attended Thorton Beach Party initiated the program Marchbank playground established their first annual Summer Carnival. This activity which had all the features of a real carnival including concession booths, prizes, hot dogs, cold drinks and all, drew 400 Daly City youngsters in what proved to be one of the most popular events of the summer.

On July 1st Marchbank played host to the other five Daly City Playgrounds for the Recreation Departments annual picnic and playday. 150 youngsters enjoyed the delicious lunch as well as the many well organized games.

The Examiner Baseball School featuring Oscar Vitt and other big league stars provided another highlite in this years program. A host of Daly City youngsters turned out for the event. The Examiner people were amazed at the ability displayed by the local kids.

On July 17th the Marchbank trackmen successfully defended their Jr. Olympic Championship. This years event marked the third consecutive year that Marchbank team annexed the title.

Extremely poor weather marred the ever popular Marchbanks Pet Show somewhat this year but never the less a variety of animals participated. Many a proud owner left the playground sporting first place blue ribbons.

With only a few events left in the completion of the program the kids are looking back on the fun they've had and looking forward to the Fall and Winter Program the Daly City Recreation Department is now planning for them.

The Record At Work

THE NORMAL LADY FROM "MY MAD WORLD"

MRS. LEONORE BREWER has opened her record cabinet to point out an outstanding collection of classical novels. The particular album in hand is Rachmaninoff's "Concerto No. 2 in C Minor, Opus 18."

Meet Leonore Brewer — Of MY MAD WORLD

Did you ever buy an empty lot, plan to build a home and then discover that the city has designs on the property? Leonore Brewer, the author of MY MAD WORLD which appears weekly in THE RECORD, has had that experience. It occurred when she and husband Thomas were buying the property at 98 Wilshire avenue.

According to Mrs. Brewer, there was nothing there but an empty lot intended for the special kind of a house she and her husband were to have built. They went away after buying the lot and when the house was finished they returned to find that a fire alarm box had been placed at such an angle on their front lawn that at a quick glance it resembles a colonial type post which has gone to pot. Now, Mrs. Brewer is "the lady who lives behind the fire alarm box."

Perhaps Mrs. Brewer needs the fire alarm box to make her unique, because there is much that is normal and everyday about the lady columnist. She divides her time between her home and the office of the heating company for which her husband is employed also. On weekends, she brings a typewriter home from the office and writes MY MAD WORLD. She keeps a neat house. Her clothes are well-chosen. There is nothing garish about her hair-do. Her voice is charming and all-in-all she could be a candidate for "Mrs. American Wife of 1953" if it weren't for the fire alarm box.

Yes. There is a 15-year-old son who will enter Jefferson Union high school in the fall.

To add to the illusion of (Thank you, Mr. Harding) normalcy, Mrs. Brewer knows little or nothing about the operation of a newspaper. She is not trained in journalism. One might say that she is not adept at journalism for she confessed that she could not sit down at her typewriter and "bat out a column" to meet a deadline. In fact, Mrs. Brewer will admit that her column is not even an idea that originated with her. She gives her husband credit for conceiving MY MAD WORLD.

When Mrs. Brewer complained about never receiving fan mail, we asked her if there wasn't some columnist that she admired above all other. She replied that she thought that Royce Brier of the San Francisco Chronicle had done a magnificent job the day the Korean Truce was signed. Then she undestood. As much as she admired Brier, she had not bothered to drop him a note of congratulation for excellent achievement in column writing. Isn't this fan mail reluctance normal?

If Mrs. Brewer has any abnormal quirks, which we doubt, her extraordinary passion for classical music would vie with her love for the ballet as the outstanding. She can grow intense at the mention of either. Wagner, Mozart, and Dvoric roll off of her tongue in the correct pronunciations of the language from which they come. She can explain Beethovan and Bach.

At this point it would not be amiss to interject the lady columnist's pet peeve. She despises persons who make noise after a musical performance has begun. She says, "If they want to talk, why don't they go somewhere else? Why do they have to spoil it for those who have come to enjoy the music?" She doesn't care for persons who talk in movies or theaters.

Mrs. Brewer doesn't try to inject her pet peeves into her column if she can help it. Neither does she try to express opinions that are available elsewhere. She feels that her opinions might be resented if compared with others. Each week she evaluates her column. Her opinion of the less worthy ones is expressed in a hyphenated word—"pot-boiler."

One thing the lady columnist has discovered. Writing a column is hard work, but the weekly flow of words allows one to learn fluidity of expression. Now, it is the idea that comes hard, not the words. Ease of expression is making Mrs. Brewer ambitious and she is seeking more recognition and hopes someday to make column writing a full time occupation. She feels that she possesses the drive and ability to do this. At the present time she is searching for the proper contact and knowledge of the journalism profession to get her "break."

Another ambition of Mrs. Brewer's is to stimulate the persons of this community to become interested in her first love—music. She doesn't feel that she has had much success to date, but hopes her opinion is wrong. We too hope the lady who lives in the house behind the fire alarm box is wrong.

STATE'S WINE SHIPMENTS UP

Shipment of California wines into distribution channels for the first six months of 1953 were 59,268,624 gallons, an increase of 5.48 per cent over the 56,191,320 gallons shipped in the same period last year, according to the Wine Institute.

County Korean Aid Drive Funds Are Not Tabulated As Yet

Funds collected in San Mateo for the Aid-To-Korea drive are scattered from Sacramento to New York and no final tabulation will be possible for some time, according to D. V. Nicholsen, publicist for the drive, in this area.

The money which is in New York has been forwarded there from the collections made in San Mateo county theaters. Credit will eventually be given the county as the money collected in the theaters all over the country is segregated, Nicholsen said.

Governor Earl Warren has been receiving money from San Mateo county as well. This is the result of the request of President Dwight D. Eisenhower that contributions be sent to the governors of the 48 states.

President Eisenhower has taken a personal interest in the Aid-To-Korea drive and placed his brother Milton in charge. He has requested that the American people contribute five million dollars to aid widows, orphans and amputees of the Korean war. This amount is considerably less than the $13 mililon donated by United States servicemen for the same project.

A report from the office of James Tormey, San Mateo county superintendent of schools, stated that $630 has been collected in the county to date. This does not include the money in New York or Sacramento. The final figure is expected to be much larger.

Tormey has stated that the man in San Mateo county who was most active in the fund raising campaign was Pete Markovich, Daly City insurance broker.

LIONS BARBECUE TO BE HELD SUNDAY AT SEARSVILLE LAKE

Searsville Lake will be the setting Sunday for the Daly City-Colma Lions annual club barbecue.

Ed Weisenberger, Joe Belli, Rudy Wolmuth and Elton McGraw head the committee handling arrangements.

The publicity committee reports that an "extra de-luxe" barbecue menu is planned.

A private section in the park with ample play space and with barbecue pits and tables has been reserved, according to the Lions.

Entertainment and games are being planned, under the chairmanship of Gil O'Shaughnessey.

Swimming, recreation facilities and refreshments will be available throughout the day for the Lions.

MAN GIVEN PROBATION FOR DISTURBING HOME

Martin Ulibarri, 21, was placed on 90 days probation Monday in Judge Fred Wyckoff's Municipal court for causing a disturbance at the home of his sister, 33 Tallwood drive.

He was also ordered to stay away from the home of his sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. William Montoya.

According to the Montoyas, Ulibarri entered their home early Monday morning, flew into a rage, beat his fists on the floor and threatened to strike his brother-in-law.

He then went to the kitchen, the Montoyas said, and picked up a knife. Later he hid out in the basement, then fled outdoors when Mr. Montoya followed after him.

A few minutes later, Ulibarri rang the front door bell. The Montoyas summoned police, just as Ulibarri entered, threatening to kill Mr. Montoya, according to his report.

City Hall Set For Flower Show

The Rotunda of the San Francisco City Hall this week is being readied for the annual San Francisco Flower Show, to be held Aug. 26-27.

As in earlier shows, the arrangement class, which attracts several hundred exhibitors, will be held on the balcony of the Rotunda. On the main floor dahlias, San Francisco's official flower, will hold the center of the stage with begonias, fuschias, roses and other flowering plants exhibited in attractive settings. Both amateur and professional gardeners exhibiting in the show compete for ribbons and honorable mention awards.

Open from 1 to 10 p.m. on Wednesday and from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Thursday, the exhibit is free.

Record Tourist Influx In 1952

Northern California had a record tourist influx last year. John J. Cuddy, general manager of Californians, Inc., said this week.

A total of 2,047,401 visitors in the area spent $168,521,000 during the year, Cuddy said. He added that tourist business in the region provides fulltime employment of 13,763 persons and that tourists paid out $6,909,000 in California taxes on such items as gasoline and store purchases.

Cuddy said Californians, Inc., spent $71,000 on promotion during the year compared to $600,000 spent by Southern California agencies.

Recreation Department Offers Free Clown Show At Three Playgrounds

Be-Be the Clown, popular children's entertainer throughout California for his "Three Bee Puppeteers" and well known to thousands of State Fair visitors, invited all youngsters of Daly City to be present on August 26th when he will present a free show, including magic and presents for all.

He will appear at Westlake playground at 9:30 a.m., Lincoln Park at 1-2 p.m. and at the War Memorial Community Center from 11 to 12. He will present a complete 1-hour show at each of the playgrounds.

His acts of conjuration are appropriate this year as the theme of the California State Fair is "California's Magic." Be-Be will entertain the youngsters from his traveling stage on a truck platform and will tell audiences about the 1953 State Fair in Sacramento, September 3 through 13.

Be-Be himself is one of the numerous clowns who will present more than a score of free shows daily during the State Fair. Meantime, he is appearing all over California from Los Angeles to the Oregon line. He will be at county fairs, department stores, and other places where there are children. His favorite punch line is, "Me, I love kids."

Besides presenting his free show here on August 26th, Be-Be will tell about the 1953 State Fair and its many attractions in educational and entertainment fields. The fair will present thousands of exhibits in agriculture, floriculture, livestock, art, home economics, and many popular commercial exhibits. Spike Jones and his orchestra will be featured for 5 nights of the night spectacle. Phil Harris, popular radio comedian, will appear the last 6 nights. On Sunday, September 13, Joie Chitwood will present his two-hour spectacle, "Tournament of Thrills."

Info For Vets Who Plan Schooling Under Federal Aid

Here is a message to all Korea veterans discharged before August 20, 1952, who plan to go to school with federal aid under the GI Bill of Rights — Public Law 550: "You have exactly one year from this August 20th to plan for and enter training."

This message, explained Floyd D. Granger, Veterans Serive Officer of San Mateo County, should serve as a reminder that the law contains a deadline in its provisions. It says that veterans have only two years after separation from the armed forces in which to begin Korean GI Bill training. But for all veterans discharged before August 20, 1952, the deadline is August 20, 1954.

"This gives you exactly one year," emphasized Granger. Before it passes, you are expected to plan your future career, figure out the training you'll need, find the school that will give it to you, arrange for enrollment and establish your eligibility for training benefits with the Veterans Administration.

"And remeber — the law allows you to change your objective only once. Thorough preparation will help you avoid lost opportunities later."

Pointing out the varieties of training possible under the GI Bill, Granger mentioned education in high school and college, training on the job, or as an apprentice, for a skill or handicraft, and institutional on-farm training. Allowances to veterans vary with the nature of their training and their study load.

Veterans planning to enroll in the 1953 fall semester may call for information and guidance at the Veterans Office, in the Courthouse, Redwood City.
